Did you try opening the Control panel, then open the add/remove software section and try removing DataWarrior there? For me this usually works without msi. In addition you may have to locate "C:\Program Files" and delete the "DataWarrior" directory inside it.

If that doesn't work, I could provide an old msi for version 4.7.2 that you probably could use. Please let me know, whether you would need the 64 or 32 bit version.
