That great Thomas! Thanks very much.

I've installed and it seems to be working well, including using other descriptors as the basis for the similarity comparison.
I played around with workflows in Knime to achieve similar results but now that this is incorporated into the DW development version, it so much more straightforward(!. Brilliant.

Thanks again.