Subject: Re: 2D coordinates in the template
Posted by thomas on Thu, 28 Jan 2021 09:03:57 GMT

Hi Simon,

thank you for the suggestion. Templates are meant to define views and filter settings. Applying a template should not modify the data itself. Therefore I suggest that you use a macro with just one "Generate 2D Atom Coordinates" task for that purpose. You could store it in the macro folder, then it would be generally available in all your DataWarrior files.

Thomas