Currently, you cannot. Pasting a few values into one column would not be a big problem, pasting multiple columns may be more complex, if it requires creating new rows or columns on the fly. This would need to trigger a cascade of things, e.g. re-evaluating existing column content, adding new columns and rows, changing/removing filters and views accordingly, etc. But it is certainly feasible with a limited effort. I took a note and added it to the wish list.
