- 1) Is it possible to select a row from DW project and paste it into another DW project?
- 2) And related: can I select a row in a given DW project and then paste it into a newly created "empty row".
- 3) And, also related, can I the same with columns. Here's a practical example: In a given DW project, I have a column of smiles and want to convert them to structures. So, I create a new structure column with the intent of paste in the the contents of smiles column

thanks,

Scott
