I tried to build the latest OpenChemLib and got an error message:

ant
Buildfile: build.xml

compile:
    [javac] Compiling 302 source files to /home/bruno/Java/openchemlib/build [javac] warning: [options] bootstrap class path not set in conjunction with -source 1.5
    [javac] error: Source option 1.5 is no longer supported. Use 1.6 or later.
    [javac] error: Target option 1.5 is no longer supported. Use 1.6 or later.

I tried with an older Java installation, and it worked.

Hi Bruno,

thank you for noticing. We will change that immediately. You could probably also just change the "-source 1.5" option in the build.xml yourself to make it compatible with JDK 9.
