I'm wondering if it is possible to save an SAR table as a template. I've created an SAR Table by using the Core based SAR Analysis. This creates a table containing new columns for the Core Fragment, R1, R2, R3 and R4. I've saved this file as a Datawarrior Template. When I attempt to apply this template to the complete Datawarrior file, the new Datawarrior file contains the structures found in the template file, but it lacks the columns for Core Fragment, R1, R2, R3, R4. Is there a way to keep these columns when applying the template?

Thanks for all the help and for all the work in maintaining Datawarrior.
